

Celebrate Thanksgiving with Free Admission at the OKC Fairgrounds

The National Reining Horse Association invites residents of the wider Oklahoma City area to enjoy free admission to the NRHA Futurity and Adequan® North American Affiliate Championships at the Oklahoma City Fairgrounds.

Reining, with beautiful horses and exciting stops, spins, and slides, offers entertainment for family members of all ages. Beginning Thanksgiving Day and running through Black Friday, admission is free to the world's most prestigious reining event.

In addition to enjoying the competition, visitors can get a jump on Black Friday at more than 80 retail and informational booths. Products range from fur coats and apparel to jewelry and western tack. Most of the booths are among the top names in Western apparel and goods.

This year, the payout for the reining event will be nearly $3 million. Riders will be showing the best 3-year-old reining prospects in the world, and the riders themselves will hail from dozens of countries.

NRHA, housed in Oklahoma City, is the international headquarters for the sport of reining. Annually, the NRHA Futurity brings more than $8 million in economic impact to Oklahoma City.
